Bubba is known in his circle of friends to be a pretty fair fisherman. He even has photos and witnesses of him catching some 9 and 10 pound bass. It is a good thing he does have proof because knowing how Bubba can embellish a fish tale, he needs proof.

Bubba practices CPR. This is most definitely not to say he is medically trained. His extent of medical training was dating a bossy nurse before he met Bubbette. She didn’t like to fish, didn’t like Bubba to fish, and it wasn’t long before she didn’t like Bubba and he surely didn’t like her! To Bubba, CPR only means catch, photo, and release. If he ever catches a big one in a major tournament and has chest pains, he is done for.

Bubba never has the big fish to show for all his efforts, but when he catches a hawg, he definitely makes sure he has a photo and witnesses.

This man has almost as many cameras in his boat as the “Love Boat” did. His best times on the lakes used to be those “Kodak Moments”. Now thanks to modern technology he refers to them as “Canon digital moments”! He really is a hi-tech redneck with his new cameras. He can now show his buds his fish without having to go get the film developed first.

When it comes to the big tournaments, Bubba just can’t put it all together. He knows it can’t be because of his stuff. He has more stuff than Santa Claus on Christmas Eve. He has won more than his share of club tournaments and placed in a few others to get checks, but he just can’t seem to get the whole enchilada.

When speaking with him after one of his tournaments he said, “One o’ these days it’s gonna be my turn and I’m gonna get off into those tournament director’s pockets and they are just going to have to give me a boat!”

Now I was really glad none of the tournament directors were around to hear that statement. Not knowing Bubba as we do and how he has a way of putting things, they just might have been a little on the nervous side rather than understanding that was just Bubba’s way of saying he was planning to win one of their tournaments.

To this date Bubba will confess, “I’ve never really been beat in a tournament, heck, I just run out of time!”

I have all the confidence in the world that one of these times Bubba is going to do just what he says and win in one of the big tournaments. He says he’s going to and the one thing you can be assured of with him is if he gives his word on a matter, it is just a matter of fact.

He will do this only if Bubbette lets him live long enough!!

After one of his tournaments Bubbette told him sternly, “Bubba, you’ve got too much stuff! Not even you know what all you have. Twenty rod n’ reels in your boat and more lures than Bass Pro Shop! You can’t be using all that stuff!” She went on to add, “You probably get all that stuff out on your boat and get confused what to do next and spend more time trying to think than fishing.”

Bubba didn’t know whether to take this as a compliment or an insult. No one had ever accused him of thinking too much and besides that, a man can never have too much fishing stuff!

Well, after he pondered this for a bit, it went over like treble hooks in a brush pile with Bubba. You would have thought somebody said his boat was ugly, wouldn’t run and he’d never fish again. I even felt sorry for poor ole Bubba.

Bubbette even saw the pain she had inflicted on poor ole Bubba’s fishing ego because the next day she bought him a new digital scale.

On the card Bubbette wrote, “This is so you will know how deep you are going to get in those tournament director’s pockets. Good luck, you are the man. I love you!” She signed it, “Yore Sugdumplin!”
Sealy Outdoors Big Bass Splash

By Don Hampton

The excitement and entertainment for the spectators and anglers began with the first hour and continued through the last hour of the 33rd Annual Sealy Outdoors Big Bass Splash on Lake Fork held September 20, 21, and 22 out of Lake Fork Marina. This great tournament is where amateurs win like pros and was attended by 2,301 anglers representing 28 states in hopes of winning some of the $516,000 guaranteed in cash and prizes. The weather held nice over the course of the tournament with the only complaints being that the wind made the lake a little rough on Friday but each morning of the tournament the weather remained cooler and the breeze was appreciated.

With $1,500 being paid for 1st place in each hour and two T-shirt hours per day paying double, if an angler had bought a T-shirt and won 1st place in any of those hours, they would win $3,000. There were 15 places paid each hour of the 3-day tournament with fifteenth paying $250 and two additional places paid in the Bonus Card hours. Each day of the tournament if an angler brought in the first exact weight of 2.50-pounds, that angler would not only win the placement in the hour but also an additional check for $5,000. If no one brought in that exact weight, the monies would be given away in a draw at the end of the tournament. No exact weight was brought to the scales in the course of the tournament. In the drawing on Sunday winning the draw for a check for $5,000 was Kris Kennedy from Azle, Texas, Richard O’Brien from Sand Springs, Oklahoma, and Christopher Klenke from Labadie, Missouri.

great reservoir is 16” to 24”, which means any bass between those two numbers cannot be brought to the scales. This keeps the lunker population in this great reservoir growing. This also meant that some anglers that caught a 1.86-pound bass up to a 2.70-pound bass took home good money from the tournament. For the heaviest bass under the slot each day Sealy Outdoors pays that angler $5,000 for their great catch. Taking home this extra money on Friday was Ricky Johnson from Rockwall, Texas for a bass weighing 2.49-pounds; on Saturday the lucky angler was Charles Hershberger from Frankston, Texas with a bass weighing 2.70-pounds and on Sunday Gary Grossman from Holly Grove, Arkansas with a catch weighing 2.46-pounds. During the course of the three day tournament there were 769 fish weighed in with a total weight of 1,561.99-pounds.

There were 19 bass weighed in during the tournament 24” in length or longer. On Friday there were four that came to the scales, Tony Climer from Mesquite, Texas with a 7.21-pound; Burl Blosser from Abilene, Texas with a 9.77-pound; Blake Frasure from Grethel, Kentucky with a 7.30-pound; and James Mankin from Weleetka, Oklahoma with a 6.69-pound. Saturday proved to be the better day for fishing with eight over the slot bass that came to the scales. These were caught by Carl Parks from Hemphill, Texas with a 9.25-pound; Steven Terrell from Fate, Texas with a 9.18-pound; Rusty Miller from Elder, Louisiana with a 9.08-pound; Alfredo Martinez from DeQueen, Arkansas with an 8.30-pound; Jimmy Qualls from Euliss, Texas with an 8.32-pound; Cody Mays from Yantis, Texas with a 7.06-pound; and Brian Cheek from Emory, Texas with an 8.30-pound.

"The Bass Foodfest Finally Here!"

By David Ozio

“The long awaited bass food fight is upon us and it couldn’t have come soon enough. Hot summer temps have sent all anglers scrambling and it’s time for everyone to take advantage of cooler air temps and get on the hunt for the giant green monsters that lurk in the depths of Lake Fork. As water temps begin to fall, this sends a signal to the baitfish to migrate into the creeks and you know what will follow. Currently, there are more shad on the lake than I have seen in years. This signals a great opportunity to book your favorite guide and go after one of the many super sloughs that are parked on this impoundment.

Early October can officiate a small drawback called “Lake Turnover”. This turnover process is very evident when you see brown bubbles floating on the surface across the lake. The occurrence doesn’t happen all at once but in stages according to the strength of the cold fronts as they pass. Not all parts of the lake will turnover at once as some areas cool faster than others. This phenomenon usually lasts about three weeks beginning in late September and throws bass fishing into a tail spin especially for the deep fish. During this transition period, you will need to read the conditions and adapt accordingly. Fall will usually issue in more cloudy days and as the water temps decline, fish will migrate to the shallows in search of food and suitable water conditions thus opening the door to easier catches on moving baits. Where do we start? The answer to that question is wrapped up in the fall bass habits. Creeks will be your starting place and finding the shad will lead you to some of the best bass fishing of the year.

Gear up with a top water for the early bites and focus on any vegetation that you can find such as coontail, lillypads or alligator grass. There is a little bit of hydrilla available but you have to hunt high and low to find it. Zara Spooks are my all time favorite and will draw strikes from the largest bass around. Buzzbaits, Yellow Magic’s and frogs are also excellent choices and truly have a place on the deck of the boat. Once that bite tapers off, I will switch to a Texas rig worm of any sort and work the same areas until noon. If the vegetation is more sparse, use a 1/8th ounce tungsten weight with a 3.0 hook and rig it with your favorite worm. Trick worms, curl tails or speed worms all work great. For thicker grass, move up to a 5/16 ounce weight so that it will get down to where the monsters live. As for worm colors, stick to dark hues on cloudy days and more translucent shades on sunny days. If the water has pitiful clarity, go with the darker colors. If the wind is howling, head to the windiest bank and throw a Talon spinner bait. If the water is on the clear side, use the willow blades. Murky water will call for the Colorado blades.

Falling water temps will also issue in a better deep bite as bass start to group up. Deep structures, road beds, points and ridges should all come alive as these fish search for food to fatten up for the winter. Once the afternoon rolls around, start

This organization truly looks out for the future of Lake Fork! Also, a big thank you goes out to the TPWD Game Wardens for the outstanding job they do. All of our prayers and thoughts go out to those effected by Hurricane Imelda.

Well after a tough month and a half in Missouri taking some family time, I’m finally back to Lake Fork. It sounds like it was a good time to be gone with all the 100 degree days down here! (But it also sounds like I missed some really good fishing!)

As luck would have it as soon as I got back, fishing turned tough – even the guys with “Livescope” said the crappie got finicky – only a couple per spot especially in the mornings. (So, I was glad to hear it wasn’t just me!) But, they also said they finally started feeding later in the day. (Sorry I missed it!) But, the mornings should gradually get better when the major feeding times shift around.

When the weather finally starts to cool off, the crappie will start showing up in the mouths of the creek arms and will work up to secondary creek arms. Right now they have been as shallow as 6 ft. and as deep as 18 ft. around bridges, brush piles, and standing timber. These fish haven’t bunched up yet and are spooky – so, you will have to keep moving around for a productive day. Also water clarity and light conditions will make a difference on what color will produce a strike so don’t be afraid to change up colors to see what will work for that time of day.

Also, if the fish are finicky, try tipping a jig with a minnow or make sure you keep a jar of Berkley Crappie Nibbles in the boat. They can make all the difference in triggering a strike. Don’t be afraid to change up your presentation. Some days they want it “dead still” and other days they want it moving. But, keep a close eye on that depth finder. It is your best tool in the boat! (I’m sure grateful for my Lowrance HDS units) because you have to know how deep the fish are holding so you know what depth to target.

I’m very excited about the new “Livescope” technology that’s hit the industry. It’s become a “game-changer” in the fishing world. (Looks like I’m going to have to add one of these to my arsenal!) I can’t wait to put one on my new Skeeter Solera 205 that I’ve ordered!

Now as far as the baits we’re using – Boneheads Stump Bug in slick neon or pearl white & chartreuse, or Lake Fork Tackle live baby shad in money milk, or pink & pearl have been producing.

Cooler weather is on the way – I can’t wait! I call October and November “TROPHY TIME”. Many of my customers have caught their personal best during these months and not just for crappie but all species! I just love Forks fall fishing and cooler temperatures!

For those of you looking for bream, we are finding some in the timber 5 – 15 ft. and around crossmembers of the bridges. Crickets, or night crawlers will work and we even get a few on small jigs.

Once again, it’s great to be back on the lake. I know Buddy is happier than me to be back. He has been such a trooper and good traveler and he made lots of new friends while in Missouri but sure was happy to see all his Lake Fork Marina friends!

My best to you all and sending thoughts and prayers to my family in Missouri and sending special prayers to my great nephew, Marine Kaenan Burkhart and his bride Jayda in their new military journey!
TPWD Taking Public Comment on Proposed Regulation Changes for Trotlines and Other Related Gears

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department (TPWD) is seeking public comment on proposed changes to the regulations on passive fishing gear (jug lines, minnow traps, perch traps, throwlines, and trotlines), which includes adding requirements and specifications for floats and reducing the valid period for gear tags to reduce the negative impacts of abandoned passive fishing gear in Texas public waters.

“Abandoned passive fishing gear is not easily identified and can harm fish and wildlife resources and present a nuisance and safety hazard to recreational users of public water bodies,” said Jarret Barker, TPWD Assistant Commander for Marine Enforcement. “These proposed changes would aid in identifying and monitoring lawful passive fishing gear and help facilitate the removal of abandoned gear.”

The proposed changes would require that passive fishing gear have properly marked gear tags and floats attached to aid in distinguishing active fishing gear from abandoned fishing gear and litter. These changes include adding a customer number from a valid fishing license on the gear tag and marking all passive fishing gear with floats that are at least 6 inches in length and not less than 3 inches in width. Floats for recreational anglers can be any color other than orange. Commercial fishing license holders will be required to use orange.

FOR THOSE ABOUT TO FISH

I SALUTE YOU...
Shallow or deep, Lake Fork is a great place to be in October.

This is one of my most favorite months of the year to fish here at Fork. Cool crisp fall air and the thrill of an early morning boat ride to your favorite spot is exhilarating. Many anglers are busy hunting this time of year which means a lot less pressure on the fish. Having the lake a little more to yourself is definitely a bonus but now lets talk about what to look for. In the early spring I constantly search, study and follow the fish eating birds, they are the best fishermen out there. Blue herons, white egrets, seagulls and terns can really help get you in the right area which is always the most important factor in fishing. Where there’s baitfish there’s predator. So similar to spring I will search for shallow baitfish by following the birds as they migrate in and out of the main lake creeks and drains. Once I find a good source of baitfish I began looking for nearby shallow creek bends, secondary points with wood, grass edges and large stumps and trees that can create ambush or holding locations for the bass. Always pay close attention to the baitfish and do your best to match size and color. I don’t get too mixed up with all kinds of colors I simply prefer a light version and dark version. Example: pearl, Ayu shad, green gizzard shad, black back/chartreuse.

Top waters, square bills, spinner baits and chatterbaits are my first choices but many times a 1/4 rattletrap ends up being my choice search bait. Early mornings and late evenings will tend to offer more activity but my favorite days are the overcast ones, sometimes the fish will bite all day.

You can also find fish deep if you prefer. Look for deep baitfish around bridge corners, road beds, pond dams, long points, ledges and breaks. Again once I find the right school of deep baitfish I will throw a 3/4 oz. football jig or a 5” flutter spoon. Usually start by hopping my spoon off the bottom looking for the more aggressive fish first, then I will slow down and pick the area apart very thoroughly. So remember shallow or deep Lake Fork is a great place to be in October.

Lake Fork Sportsman’s Association “Preserving the Legend That is Lake Fork”

By Carolyn West
President LFSA

Lake Fork Sportsman’s Association had a booth from Thursday, September 19 through Sunday, September 22 at the Sealy Outdoors Big Bass Splash. As a welcome to the registrants, each first day registrant was given a chance to win a $100 gift card from LFSA. The winner was Mike Goodman of Buna, Texas. Big Bash Splash guaranteed $516,000 in cash and prizes and included $171,150 in hourly payouts. Held at Lake Fork Marina, this tournament always brings fishing excitement to the entrants and the supporters.

The Live Release Boat worked by Association members received the fish caught during the 3-day tournament and cared for them until their release back into the lake. The LRB will be available for three more tournaments this Fall:
- October 5 -6 - Bass Cat Owners Tournament at Lake Fork Marina
- October 12 – Texas Trails Bassmaster’s Open at Oak Ridge Marina
- October 19-20 – Berkley Open Tournament at Lake Fork Marina

LFSA’s Fall Raffle will be drawn at the Berkley Tournament on October 20 at approximately 2:30 p.m. Anyone interested in buying tickets for the raffle should call 903-752-2014 or contact any LFSA member. Tickets are $5.00 each or 5 tickets for $20.00.

As discussed last month in this article in The Fisherman’s Guide, the Association has developed, in conjunction with Texas Parks and Wildlife, a project called Life Cycle Support Strategies. The design theory is to provide full-life habitat from pre-spawn to “overs” growth assistance, virtually providing a “fish city”. Six sites will be developed in suitable locations utilizing components seen in the matrix below. Major components are Spawning Beds, Minnow Factories, Habitat Protection Fencing, T-Habs in vertical and horizontal positions at depths from 3’ to 20’. T-Habs and Hydrilla Fencing have been tested and currently 152 T-Habs are in Lake Fork. Coordinates were published in the September paper and are on both TPWD and LFSA websites. The components will be built and deployed by LFSA, TPWD and the Yantis High School Vocational Tech students. The project is charted below.

The hot, dry conditions that have been gripping most of Texas could make the recent archery-only white-tailed deer season opener a challenge for bowhunters, yet those who knew how to work the conditions could still find good hunting. For the first time this fall, hunters are required to report all antlerless deer harvested in 21 south-central Texas counties—see details below.

“Although dry conditions should encourage deer to frequent feeders more consistently and more often, the hot temperatures may curtail movement during much of the day except for the periods around dawn and dusk,” said Alan Cain, TPWD white-tailed deer program leader. “Until cooler temperatures arrive and deer movement picks up hunters may consider using game cameras to narrow down peak deer movement near their favorite hunting location and increase chances of success.”

Texas boasts a robust white-tailed deer population of about 5.3 million deer which should contribute to hunter success this season. Despite the deterioration in range conditions over the last several months with the 100-degree weather and wind, Cain notes “Hunters should expect an excellent deer season with above average antler quality and fawn recruitment.” Cain explained that good rains early in the fall of 2018 that set the stage for an excellent crop of winter weeds lasting well into the spring. The excellent habitat conditions continued into early July and were critical in providing the nutrition bucks needed to maximize antler growth.

While the archery-only season kicked off Sept. 28th and runs through Nov. 1, the general gun season opener is still more than a month away on Nov. 2. A special youth-only weekend season is set for Oct. 26-27. The general season runs through Jan. 5, 2020 in North Texas and Jan. 19, 2020 in South Texas. A late youth-only season is also slated for Jan. 6-19, 2020. For additional late season deer hunting opportunities and county specific regulations, consult the 2019-2020 Outdoor Annual of hunting and fishing regulations.

New this fall, hunters in parts of south-central Texas will be required to report all antlerless deer harvest in Austin, Bastrop, Caldwell, Coloradoado, Dewitt, Fayette, Gonzales, Guadalupe, Karnes, Lavaca, Lee, Waller, Washington, and Wilson. Counties also included in that change are Goliad, Jackson, Victoria, and Wharton counties north of U.S. Highway 59 and Comal, Hays, and Travis east of IH-35.

Any antlerless deer harvested during the archery, youth-only, muzzleloader, and the 4 doe-days during the general season is required to be reported to the department within 24 hours of harvest using either the “My Texas Hunt Harvest” mobile app (for iOS and Android) or on TPWD’s My Texas Hunt Harvest web page.

Anyone can get the “My Texas Hunt Harvest” app at tpwd.texas.gov/myhunt. The app works without a data signal as long as it has already been downloaded to the device. The app is also bilingual and available in Spanish to customers who use Spanish as the main language setting on their phone or other mobile devices.

Hunters are also reminded to review the TPWD chronic wasting disease regulations for information about CWD testing requirements and carcass movement restrictions for the 2019-2020 season. Also as a reminder, Texas hunters harvesting deer, elk, moose, or other susceptible species in other CWD-positive states must also comply with carcass movement restrictions when bringing those harvested animals back into Texas. Additionally, the Texas Animal Health Commission has mandatory testing requirements that apply to elk, red deer, sika, moose, and reindeer.
looking deep for bait and you will find bass that just flat live there year round. The electronics are key to this success and once you locate a sizeable wad of fish, pitch out a marker buoy and go to work. You can start with a Carolina rig using any big worm to fool the bass. Blue fleck, Watermelon red and plum all work well. A stand up head is also a great tool for these fish using the same worms. My mantra is “if I can see them, I can catch them”. It’s game on for video fishing and the drop shot rules the roost for this type of play. Put the worm right in front of their nose and wait for the rod to load up. It don’t get much better than that. If you spot the big arc’s suspended, dig out a 5 inch Talon spoon, count it down and hold on. A magnum fluke will work equally well if the wind is not howling. Use a heavy rod and 20lb line for this application.

New Texas Laws Affecting Feral Hog Hunting, License Validation Took Effect Sept. 1

Feral hogs are so loathed by landowners in Texas for their habit of destroying behavior that as of Sept. 1, you don’t need a hunting license to pursue them on private property. That’s when a new law took effect removing even more obstacles from controlling hog numbers.

The new law, SB 317 by Sen. Bryan Hughes (Mineola), passed during the 86th Texas Legislature and exempts any person (resident or nonresident), with landowner consent, from a hunting license requirement to hunt feral hogs. It is still a violation to hunt without a license if hunting without consent. The new law removes any reference to depredation and the exemption applies for the take of all feral hogs.

The new law only applies to private property, and is irrelevant of whether or not it is a paid hunt, although allowing hunting access in return for financial or other consideration still requires a hunting lease license from the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department. A hunting license is still required on public land. Hunter education requirements also still apply.

Comments on the proposed changes may be submitted to Jarret Barker by phone (512) 389-4853 or email jarret.barker@tpwd.texas.gov. Comments also may be submitted via the department’s website at https://www.tpwd.texas.gov/business/feedback/public_comment/ or in person during the TPW Commission meeting Nov. 7 at 4200 Smith School Road, Austin, TX 78744.

The changes would also reduce the period of validity for a gear tag from 10 days to four days to shorten the fishing time between angler inspections of their gear. Scientific investigations conducted by the department show that fish mortalities as a result of “ghost fishing” (the continuing effect of unattended passive gears) can increase after four days. Such devices can continue to fish and represent a danger to fish and other aquatic organisms when they are abandoned. Requiring the gear tag and the accompanying gear to be checked more frequently than 10 days should reduce those unintended mortalities.

Additionally, the removal of abandoned fishing gear will have the additional benefit of reducing threats to human health and safety. The proposed regulation changes are available for review in the September 27 edition of the Texas Register. The public comment period is open through Nov. 7, when the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission will meet to vote on adopting these changes.

Texas Freshwater Fishing Hall of Fame Nominations Accepted Through Nov. 1

The Texas Freshwater Fishing Hall of Fame committee is seeking nominations for individuals and organizations that have made significant contributions to freshwater fishing in Texas for next year’s hall of fame through Nov. 1, 2019.

“The Texas Freshwater Fishing Hall of Fame is made up of a growing list of 35 individuals and organizations who have made a significant impact on freshwater fishing in the state,” said Dan Kessler, TFF Hall of Fame Committee Chair. “Whether it’s an outdoor writer, pro-angler, fishing club or leader of industry, we look forward to continuing to honor and recognize everyone that helps make Texas fishing the best it can be.”

The nominees will be evaluated by the members of the Texas Freshwater Fishing Hall of Fame committee made up of anglers, industry professionals and organizations in Texas freshwater fishing. Inductees will be chosen based on the following criteria: ethics, leadership and commitment, unselfish contributions to the sport, scope of impact on freshwater fishing and fishing/fisheries management expertise and impact.

The winners will be announced in spring 2020 and will be presented with their awards in a special ceremony during Toyota Bassmaster Texas Fest benefitting the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

“Toyota Bassmaster Texas Fest is without a doubt one of the most exciting bass fishing events in Texas,” Kessler said. “We are excited to review all of this year’s nominations and welcome the winners on stage surrounded by Texas fishing fans and professionals next year.”

The most recent inductees to the Texas Freshwater Fishing Hall of Fame include Alan Haynes in 2019 and Shannon Tompkins and the Lake Fork Sportsman’s Association in 2018.

The Texas Freshwater Fishing Hall of Fame is housed at the Texas Freshwater Fisheries Center in Athens. Its mission is to “recognize and honor those who have made a lasting contribution to freshwater fishing in Texas, and to foster a sense of appreciation, awareness and participation in the sport of fishing.”

Nomination forms and instructions are available online or by calling (903) 676-2277.

A video highlighting the 2019 TFF Hall of Fame winner can be found on the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department’s YouTube Channel under the title: Alan Haynes: Texas Freshwater Fishing Hall of Fame 2019.
CWD Sample Collector Trainings in the Panhandle and Trans-Pecos

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department (TPWD), the Texas Animal Health Commission (TAHC) and the Texas A&M AgriLife Extension Service have partnered to coordinate Chronic Wasting Disease (CWD) post-mortem sample collection trainings in the Panhandle and Trans-Pecos. As part of the state’s increased CWD surveillance, this opportunity is being provided to landowners/managers, taxidermists, and veterinarians to be trained and certified by TAHC to be official CWD sample collectors.

This will be a classroom format as well as hands on training for sample collection. Trained individuals will then be able to sample harvested CWD susceptible species such as whitetailed deer, mule deer, elk, red deer, sika, etc. on their properties or for other hunters and provide those samples to TPWD for CWD testing to meet mandatory testing requirements in the Panhandle and Trans-Pecos CWD Zones. Individuals who participated last year must also attend this year’s training to receive necessary tissue sampling supplies. Space is limited to the first 50 participants for each training and registration is mandatory to attend. Please sign up as soon as possible.

Details for the trainings are below:

Game Warden Field Notes

The following items are compiled from recent Texas Parks and Wildlife Department law enforcement reports.

--Something Fishy on the Menu-- Earlier this month, game wardens wrapped up an investigation into a Bastrop restaurant illegally selling white bass caught in public waters in Lee County. The subjects first denied selling the fish, but when confronted with their “fresh fish for sale” postings on Facebook, along with photos of the fish, they quickly changed their story and confessed. Seventy-seven white bass were seized and citations were issued.

--Let’s Make a Boat Deal-- A boat dealer in the Waco area alerted game wardens that a car dealer in Robinson was selling boats without a marine dealer license. A warden located the car dealership late on a Saturday night and recorded three boats, motors and trailers on the lot. After checking the history of the vessels through different databases and resources, the warden returned to the dealership during business hours. He noticed a pontoon boat he had observed previously was missing and asked about it. The owner proudly stated he had sold it, adding that the vessel was there on consignment. The car dealer asked if there was a problem, to which the warden replied that there was no problem, but he needed to see their marine dealer license. The owner said he did not need a license since it was there on consignment. The warden then asked to see the audit trail of the boat and found out the owner traded it to the car dealer for a tractor and the car dealer then sold it for $17,000. After making it clear the dealer was in violation of failure to have a marine dealer license, the warden assisted him in the application process. A follow-up revealed the application was approved and the case was resolved with compliance.

--Putting Out the Cat-- Game wardens in northeast Texas were recently patrolling at night while four separate predator hunting tournaments were taking place simultaneously in surrounding counties. Using a twist on the “Bucky the deer decoy” setup wardens have relied on for years to catch road hunters, they put out a bobcat decoy. It didn’t take long before a tournament participant came along and shot the decoy with a rifle from a public roadway. Multiple cases are pending.

--Crossing the Line-- While patrolling the Rio Grande upriver from Laredo on March 23, game wardens observed multiple limb lines and jug lines set from the U.S. bank. Further investigations revealed fresh bait on the hooks and a 20-pound blue catfish caught on one of the jug lines. None of the limb lines or jug lines had a valid gear tag affixed. Patrol efforts continued upriver where wardens discovered about 200-feet of illegal gill net tied to the U.S. bank, and stretched to an underwater tree limb in the middle of the river. The gill net yielded multiple fish. The gill net, limb lines and jug lines set out were not accompanied by any fisherman at the time of detection nor did any contacts along the river that day connect any fisherman to the illegal devices. All illegal fishing devices were seized, removed from the river, and the fish were donated to a family in need in Laredo.

--A Game Show Host-- A Zavala County game warden recently completed a year-long investigation involving a ranch manager who was selling hunts without the consent of the landowner. The ranch manager even brought in a camera crew from a well-known outdoors television show to video the hunts. The unauthorized activities resulted in the illegal harvest of 11 white-tailed bucks off the property. The ranch manager was indicted on 11 state jail felony counts of hunting without landowner consent, along with multiple other charges.

--Alexa, Where Does the Game Warden Live?-- An Ellis County game warden responded to a call from a ranch manager who had witnessed two subjects shooting out into his pasture from the county road. The ranch manager and another farmer chased the subject’s vehicle down the highway, while the warden headed to their location from the opposite direction. The ranch manager advised the vehicle was turning into a driveway, which just happened to be the warden’s private property. The warden arrived at his residence shortly and confronted the pair – a father and his 17-year-old son from Ft. Worth. The dad claimed they were just driving around, showing his son “how to load a gun, shoot in a safe direction . . .

. and you know, gun safety stuff.” After the warden issued a citation for discharging a firearm from a public roadway, and provided a brief primer on firearms safety, the father asked, “Did I really pull into your driveway?” The warden nodded and smiled. “That was kinda convenient,” replied the man.

--Did You Lose Something?-- An Ellis County game warden received a call from a landowner who had evidence of someone hunting on his property without consent. The land-owner showed the warden an image from his game camera of a hog that was shot under a feeder. The image only captured the subject’s backside. The warden did find a bloody knife that was left at the scene. During his investigation, the warden learned that several individuals had permission to hunt on a neighboring property, and photos of a couple of dead hogs had been posted to one of their social media accounts. The warden paid a visit to the residence of one of the teens who posted the images and spoke to his father, who confirmed his 17-year-old son and some friends had shot two pigs the previous weekend. The warden asked him if they cleaned the hogs at the house or on the property they hunted. The man replied it was out at the property, and unfortunately, his son said he lost his knife in the process. The warden told the father the reason for his visit, asked if this looked familiar, and showed him the lost knife. The next day the boys gave a full confession. The cases are pending.

--Anti-Social Media Behavior-- Game wardens in Limestone and Leon counties recently completed a several month long investigation into an animal cruelty case. The suspect had used fireworks to torture a live, previously injured raccoon and posted the act on social media. The suspect was recently indicted by a Limestone County Grand Jury and warrants for his arrest were obtained. The suspect was arrested and placed in the Limestone County jail. The case is pending.

--Unintended Consequences-- On March 22, a Matagorda County game warden received a complaint about several sick and/or dead eagles and buzzards on a local ranch. Upon arriving at the location, he observed a dead feral hog that the birds had obviously been eating. Three dead bald eagles and a few buzzards were located in the immediate area. Several more buzzards and a caracara that were too sick to fly were also observed. Suspecting the possibility that the pig may have been poisoned, and because of the bird species involved, the warden contacted a U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service special agent and brought him in on the investigation. They made contact with a neighboring farmer, who admitted to soaking corn in a poison and putting it out to get rid of the feral hogs in the area. The federally-protected birds had ingested the poison. The violations were turned over to USFW for prosecution.

--Snakes Alive!-- At about 1 a.m. on March 25, game wardens were on patrol when they encountered a pickup truck traveling through a remote area of Zapata County. After conducting a traffic stop on the vehicle, it was found that the driver, a person with an extensive history of game and fish violations, was hunting rattlesnakes from the roadway. Two citations were issued, and two rattlesnakes were seized. After traveling to the violator’s residence to retrieve other illegally harvested snakes, it was found the violator had picked up another rattlesnake on the roadway immediately after receiving citations and being released from the first contact that night. Additional citations were issued for hunting from the public roadway and 11 more rattlesnakes were seized from the residence. The cases are pending.

--Tag Team-- In early March, a Smith County game warden received a call from a Virginia game warden concerning some Texas deer confiscated from a taxidermist in Virginia who was operating without a license. There were three sets of antlers, and two of the tags came back to Smith County. The third buck, a 10 point, had a name but no tag. The warden was able to obtain an identity and interviewed the man whose name was attached to the 10 point buck, but had no license. The warden determined the deer was taken illegally. The subject was coyote hunting and saw a deer he couldn’t pass up. The subject had no hunting license. The (See Game Warden....Continued on Page 28)
Enjoy a Spicy Celebration of a Culinary Legend

By Sue Hampton

There has never been anything mild about chili. Ever since the ancient ancestors got the idea to cook chile peppers with meat, the desire to brew up the best bowl of chili in the world has been a fiery part of the collective human experience. And while just about every state in the American Southwest lays claim to the title “home of the best chili,” the truth is that the mixture of meat, beans, peppers and herbs was known to the Incans, Aztecs and Mayans long before the arrival of Spanish conquistadors.

Chile peppers were used in the cuisines of ancient China, India, Indonesia, Italy, the Caribbean, France and parts of the Middle East. However, many food experts believe that cattle drivers and trail hands of the 19th-century American Southwest are most likely responsible for popularizing the spicy specialty during their travels across the countryside. Legends abound—from a range cook who planted herb gardens along the cattle trails to ensure he’d always have enough spices for chile, to Jesse and Frank James, who are said to have enjoyed a few “bowls of red” before several of their more famous bank robberies. The legend lives on the hearts, cooking pots and chili cook-offs of “chilheads” around the world.

RED HOT VENISON CHILI

(Proclaimed the state dish by the Texas legislature in 1977, it is one of the most famous local preparations and the topic of many heated conversations over ingredients and whether beans or tomatoes should be included. If you’re not a devotee of beans in chili, simply omit them. The fry bread is typical of the fried dough cooked by Native Americans for centuries!)

Chili

2 tablespoons vegetable oil
1 large onion, finely chopped
1 bell pepper, finely chopped
6 garlic cloves, minced
2 pounds ground venison
2 jalapeno chiles, minced, or to taste
1 tablespoon plus 1 teaspoon chile powder
7/8 teaspoon cayenne pepper
2-1/2 teaspoons ground cumin
1 tablespoon dried oregano
1 (15-1/2-ounce) can red kidney beans, drained
1 (28-ounce) can tomato paste
3-1/2 cups beef stock
1-1/2 teaspoons salt

Indian Fry Bread

2 cups all-purpose flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons solid vegetable shortening
1 cup milk

Vegetable oil for frying

Heat the oil in a skillet over medium-high heat. Sauté the onion, bell pepper and garlic until tender. Add the venison and cook through, breaking up the ground meat. Drain any liquid. Stir in the remaining ingredients. Bring to a boil, reduce the heat and simmer, uncovered, for about two hours. Stir occasionally. Adjust the seasonings.

To make the fry bread, sift together the flour, baking powder and salt. Cut the shortening into the flour. Form a ball. Knead the dough on a floured surface for about three minutes, until the flour is incorporated and the dough is smooth. Roll the dough if the dough feels tacky. Divide into eight equal pieces. Roll out each ball into a round about 1/8-inch thick. Cut a quarter-sized hole in the center of each round.

Heat 1 inch of oil in a deep pan to 370°F. In batches, add the rounds and fry, until golden brown, about 1-1/2 minutes on each side. Transfer to paper towels to drain. Serve the chili and the fry bread piping hot!

warden then interviewed a second subject, who had a blank tag on one of the other bucks seized. His deer was killed legally but he failed to fill out his tag, harvest log, and did not have the required hunter education certification. Cases and warnings were filed for no hunting license, untagged deer, improperly tagged deer, harvest log and hunter’s education violations. Civil restitution is pending.

--Couldn’t Escape the Net--A Freestone County game warden had just checked and released a boat of Dallas area fishermen who were cast netting for tilapia and running jug lines on Lake Fairfield. Shortly after releasing the group, she discovered an illegal gill net near where she first made contact with the group. After hauling in the 500-foot net, the warden made her way back to the Dallas anglers to ask about the gill net. As she reapproached, the group quickly pulled up their jug lines and sped off toward the boat dock. The warden called a state park police officer for backup at the boat ramp, and after questioning, the suspects confessed to having placed the net out earlier in the day. Citations were issued for the illegal net and for taking game fish by illegal means/methods. Numerous largemouth bass and tilapia caught in the net were released back into the lake.

--Facebook Advertising Works--On April 3, game wardens received an Operation Game Thief crime stoppers call alleging an individual was trying to sell an alligator on Facebook. Wardens quickly determined the man was actually looking to sell the rifle pictured in his post, not the alligator, which still begged the question “Where did he get the gator?” Wardens continued the investigation and learned the individual harvested the alligator illegally in San Jacinto County. During an interview on April 13, wardens gained a full confession from the individual. Appropriate charges and restitution were filed.
